

Minister Who Was Made Insane by Overstudy Ends His Life With a Razor

FARGO, N. D., Dec. 28.--Failing to arrive at the church where his congregation assembled for Sunday worship, a searching party was formed to locate Rev. Robert L. Dougherty, pastor of the Congregational Church at Buchanan, N. D., and on visiting his apartments the minister was found lying in a pool of his own blood. He had committed suicide. A razor, with which he killed himself was grasped in the hand of the victim. A rambling note was found on a table. His actions had been watched for some time by the people of Buchanan, who were not entirely satisfied he was in his right mind. KANSAS CITY, Dec. 28.--Rev. Dougherty was the son of Rev. J. D. Dougherty of Kansas City, Kas. Members of his family today said they believed that the young preacher had taken his life following a mental break down due to ill-health and overstudy. Rev. J.

D. Dougherty, father of the dead man, was the first of the leaders in Kansas to take up the fight against lotteries, gambling and liquor traffic.

TIDAL WAVES FOLLOW VIOLENT EARTHQUAKES Sicily and Italy Shaken

ROME, Dec. 28.--Southern Italy was visited by a serious and fatal earthquake this morning. The center of the disturbance was in Sicily and the greatest loss of life and property occurred on this island. The reports are as yet incomplete, but the people everywhere were thrown into a condition of panic. At Catlannissetta, a Sicilian town of 3000 people, a number of houses were shaken down and the inhabitants fled for safety to the streets.

Waterfront Swept
At Catania the docks and shore front were overwhelmed by a tidal wave. Much damage was done to shipping, several steamers being damaged. At Catania the shocks lasted twenty seconds.

At Agostia, in the province of Syracuse, two churches and several houses were demolished, but no lives were lost. The prisoners in the local jail made their escape and ran for liberty through the prison gates on the streets. Troops were called out and quiet was restored. There were shocks also at Indragliosa, Santa Sotomaria and Noto, all in Sicily.

Dead in Ruins
The greatest reports of loss come from Calabria, where three dead and sixty wounded have been removed from the ruins at St. Lucia. Soldiers have been called on to carry on the work of rescue. Troops have been ordered also to bury dead and damaged buildings in order to minimize the danger from falling walls. Sixty persons are said to have sustained injuries at Sannofello and the population is camping out in the open air. Troops everywhere are engaged in the work of rescue.

CATANI, Sicily, Dec. 28.--A tidal wave swept into this port today, the result of the earthquake disturbances. The people on the water front were thrown into an indescribable condition of fear. The approach of the water was seen and cries of warning rang out. The people fled from the docks and water front of the town.

Violent Earthquakes
ROME, Dec. 28.--Violent earthquake shocks were felt in Calabria at 9:30 o'clock this morning. Serious damage is said to have resulted and some casualties are reported at Miloto, Gionadi and Stafoani. At Stafoani the shock was most severe, but Sangregori, San Glogia and Matera also suffered.

King Hears Report
NAPLES, Dec. 28.--King Victor Emmanuel, who is shooting near Naples, on receiving reports of the earthquake in Calabria, issued orders to make preparation for a trip to Calabria should the circumstance warrant.

Shipping Damaged
LONDON, Dec. 28.--A dispatch received here from Catania, Sicily, says the Swedish steamer Asta, the Austrian steamer Budatwo and the Italian steamer Orseolo were damaged today by an earthquake and consequent tidal disturbances at that port. The extent of the injuries to the vessels is not given.

France Shaken
PAU, France, Dec. 28.--A slight earthquake was experienced here this morning, coincident with the disturbance in Calabria. No damage resulted.

Many Are Killed
PALMI, Italy, Dec. 28.--An earthquake shock was felt here today. Many business houses were shaken to the ground, and it is said there were many victims.

Felt in Washington
WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.--An earthquake of very moderate force, but quite prolonged, was recorded by the weather bureau instruments last night. Prof. Marvin estimated that the great force of the earthquake was felt about 4800 miles away, corresponding, he said, quite closely to the distance between Washington and Calabria.

MAN'S MIND RESTORED BY AID OF SURGERY

BERKELEY, Dec. 28.--After one of the most delicate operations of brain surgery, the skull known in local surgery, George McCluskey, a 40-year-old merchant, who, during a fit of insanity on December 24, tried to murder his neighbor, Mrs. Thomas Verill, has been restored to sanity and is now on the road to health. The operation, which was of the most dangerous character, was performed by Dr. Robert Hecker and Harvey of this city. McCluskey's ravings continued after he had been removed to the Roosevelt Hospital after his violent spell, which nearly proved fatal for Mrs. Verill. Physicians at the hospital were baffled and unable to explain the cause of his insanity.

Pressure of Bone
It was only after his head had been thoroughly examined that it was discovered that a small bone was pressing the brain and would eventually cause death. An operation was immediately decided upon and McCluskey placed under the knife. He survived the shock and is now reported to be improving hourly, although still weak.

PLEADS FOR SENTENCE AT ONCE

BOY PLEADS GUILTY TO ROBBERY CHARGE

Judge Brown Suspends Sentence--17 Year Old Harry Stewart, Sends Him to Preston School.

"I am alone in the world, so to speak, and I committed that crime. I plead guilty and want you to sentence me at once. I know I have it coming to me, and there is no use to wait. When a fellow is up against it he might as well take his medicine."

Thus spoke 17-year old Harry Stewart in a frank statement to Superior Judge Brown this morning in admitting his guilt to the charge of breaking into the residence of Daniel G. Madden at 9 o'clock on the afternoon of December 9.

Judge Brown suspended sentence and ordered the lad to be imprisoned at the Preston School of Industry at Iona until he becomes 21 years of age. Stewart told Judge Brown that he had been in Oakland only a week before he committed burglary. He said he came from Los Angeles and had bent his way about the country, working at one place and another, for the last year a half, since he left his father at Kansas City. His mother is dead, he said, and his father took no interest in him. The boy is a mainly appearing young fellow and Judge Brown declared that he believed with proper training in the reform school Stewart would come out a respectable man.

Pleads Not Guilty

R. C. Blake, who figured in a sensation with the police several weeks ago when he was accused of attempting an elopement with a woman who was accused of making an attempt on the life of her husband, pleaded not guilty to a forgery charge before Judge Brown. His case was set for trial on January 27. Blake is said to have forged a voucher of the National Cash Register Company for $37.50 and cashed it at the Union Savings Bank.

One Burnett entered a plea of not guilty to the charge of passing a worthless check for $30 on 1/11 Bros. His case was set for trial on January 20.

Sam Ballard pleaded not guilty to robbing the residence of W. H. Smith on November 21 and had his trial set for January 25. James Smith pleaded not guilty to stealing a gold ring valued at $5 from F. R. Marshall. He will be tried before a jury on January 14.

UNABLE TO CONTINUE STUDIES BOY ENDS LIFE

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.--Sunday saw another pathetic child suicide in this city when Arthur Kirby, the 15-year-old son of Mrs. Margaret Kirby, a Brooklyn widow, ended his life last night by inhaling gas through a tube.

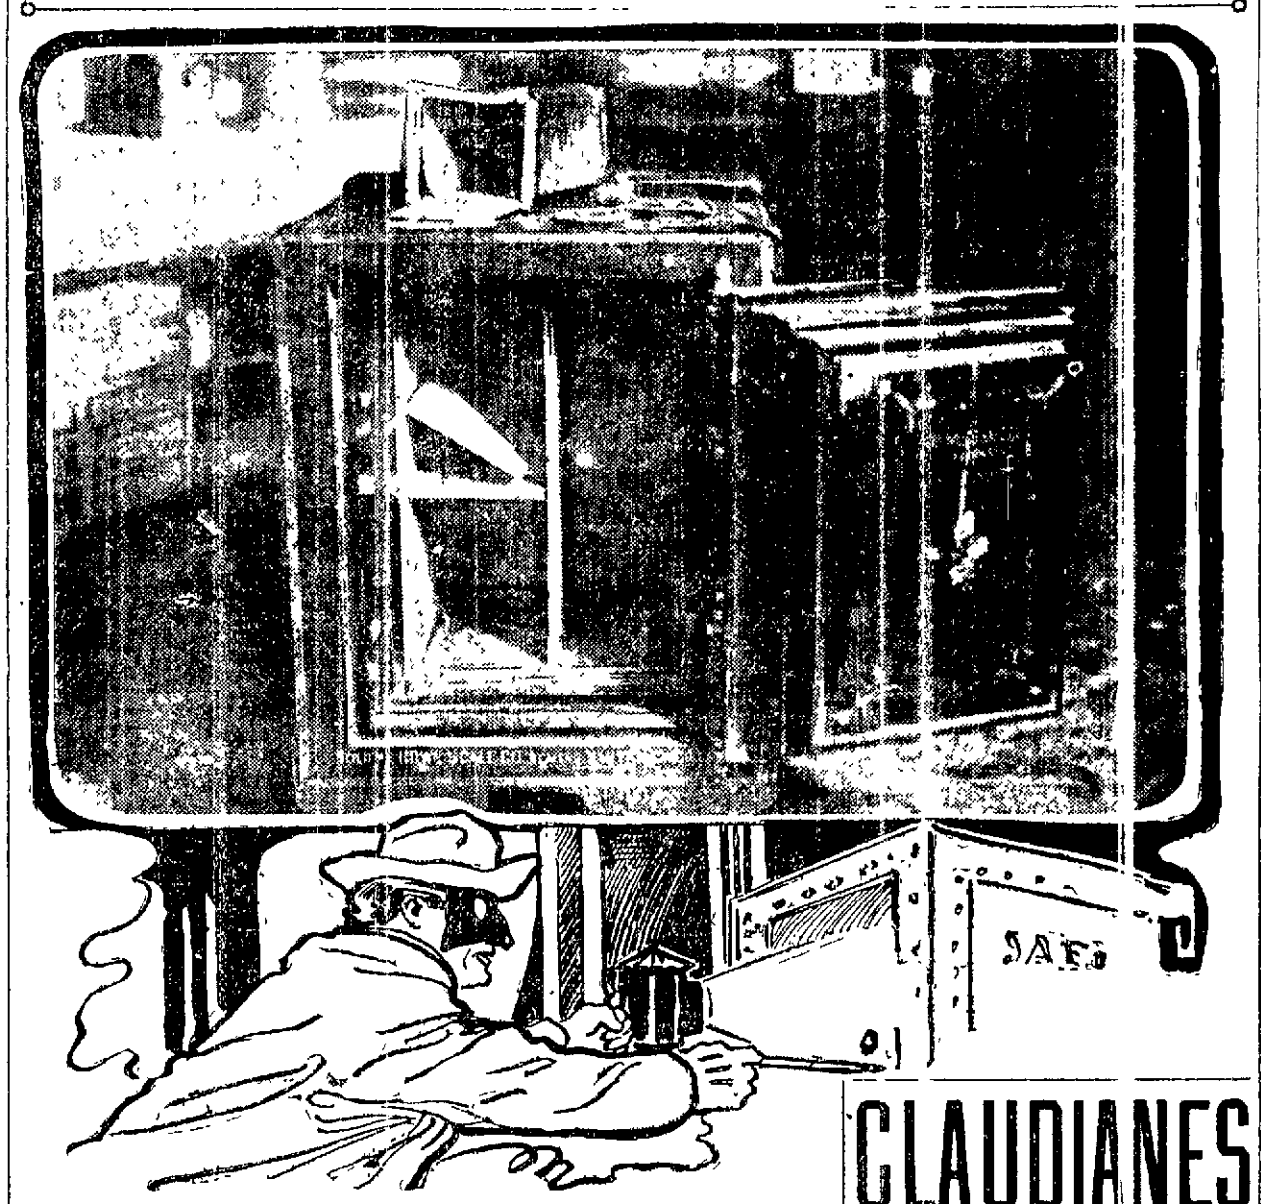

Despondency because he was unable to pursue his studies in order to prepare himself for a college education is supposed to have prompted the child's act. With the death of his father and elder brother, only a few weeks ago, the boy was forced to leave school and go to work in a butcher shop.

He visited his mother on Christmas day, then returned to his employer's house, where he ended his life last night.

CHICAGO'S DEATH RATE LOWEST FOR XMAS WEEK

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.--This city has supplied during the last week a tangible proof of the fallacy of the old adage, "A green Christmas makes a fat grave yard." No Christmas has been "greener" than the one which has just passed, yet the death rate--11.58 on the 1000--is the lowest ever reached for a week in December.

MONEY AND STAMPS STOLEN

DRUGGIST AND UNCLE SAM VICTIMS OF ROBBERS

Strong Box Dragged to Rear Room Out of Sight of Street Before It Is Blown Up and Looted.

Safe crackers sometime between midnight and five o'clock this morning blew open the safe of the Postoffice Sub-Station at 1870 Telegraph avenue and secured about $300 in stamps and money. The larger portion of the loot was stamps.

The Sub-Station was under the charge of Dr. Benjamin T. Mouser, who also runs a drug store in conjunction. He states that about $100 of the loss was from his drug proceeds and the remainder was Uncle Sam's money.

Had Easy Job

The safe crackers had a comparatively easy time. The safe containing the money and stamps was an old style safe. To crack it all that was necessary was to blow out the combination, after which it was a simple matter to open the door. The crooks, after gaining an entrance by prying open the rear door, dragged the safe from the front of the store into a rear room, where they were screened from observation. Here they drilled a small hole in the combination and inserted the dynamite. The safe was evidently wrapped in blankets or other material to deaden the explosion, as no one residing in the vicinity heard anything unusual.

Given Warning

Once the door was open it was an easy matter to rifle the drawers. Detective Hodgkins states that warning had been given to this place some time ago. As yet the police have no clue to the perpetrators.

TO IMPROVE ROAD FOR AUTOMOBILE

Stretch on Main Highway From Martinez to This City Likely to Be Put in Shape.

MARTINEZ, Dec. 28.—A conference was held here the other day by members of the Board of Supervisors of Napa, Solano and Contra Costa counties for the purpose of at once putting in proper shape a half mile of abandoned road running from Vallejo Junction to the main highway from Martinez to Oakland, to the end that automobiles may be taking the Southern Pacific route from Vallejo Junction to South Vallejo, be able to reach parts of Napa county and the Lake County resorts, something they are unable to do at present, on account of the impassable condition of this short stretch of road.

Several months ago the Napa Chamber of Commerce started a campaign for auto, etc., services on the Southern Pacific route between Vallejo Junction and South Vallejo, but this piece of bad road rendered the road unfeasible.

Chairman of the Napa county Board took the matter in hand and arranged the joint conference held here. Among those in attendance were members of the Contra Costa Board of Supervisors, Supervisors H. J. Widenmann and D. M. Fleming of Vallejo, Sheriff R. R. Vandy of Martinez, Chairman of the Board of Supervisors W. E. Alexander and Supervisor Jasper N. Patrick of Napa, W. E. Ingalls, William J. Lindlow, M. E. Cargill, G. W. Mower and Guy W. Young, prominent automobile owners of Napa. State Senator-elect for Marin and Contra Costa counties E. B. Martinelli of San Rafael, and Assemblyman-elect Johnson of Martinez.

Some strong speeches in favor of the project were made, Senator Martinelli and Assemblyman Johnson promising every assistance possible.

A committee was appointed and a civil engineer employed to immediately ascertain the cost of the badly needed improvement.

It is now more than likely that the Contra Costa Board will decide to go ahead with the work at the January meeting.

TAXES COLLECTED SHOW PROSPERITY

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—City Treasurer John McDougall will turn over tomorrow to the authorities at Sacramento the latest apportionment of State taxes ever collected in this county for one year, and the size of the sum indicates the wonderful prosperity of the community, when the earthquake and fire of 1906 are taken into consideration.

The amount is $1,050,000, and is considered a pretty large sum to come from one county of the many counties in the State. Some interesting figures connected with this sum are as follows: It weighs 2511 pounds, 86 pounds less than two tons. If the coins were placed on a flat surface they would extend for one mile and a fraction, and if piled one on top of the other would be 283 feet high, or 47 feet less than the height of the Claus Spreckels building, the tallest structure on the coast.

The cost of transferring this gigantic sum from San Francisco to Sacramento and the turning over of it to State Treasurer W. J. Williams will be $750,000, and it will take six men five hours to count the money.

Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express will make the transfer, and the car in which the coin is sent will be heavily guarded by special detectives.

TAMPA, Fla., Dec. 28.—The remains of Dr. Cyrus R. Devout followers now believe that on the seventh day Dr. Todd will again be animated. Great feasting and celebrations will be held Wednesday.

EIGHT ZINGARIS PLEASE AT BELL

ALICE DESMOND, First Soprano, of the Eight Singers at the Bell.

Gypsies Sing in Masterful Style and Are Given a Flattering Reception.

Grand opera airs rendered in masterful style by a troupe of natural singers, the eight Zingaris, at the Bell Theatre, who lay claim to the unusual distinction of being full-blooded Gypsies, constitute one of the most pleasant musical programs of an altogether first-class program.

Their repertoire includes the Torsani Song from "Carmen," selections from "Rigoletto" and "Parsifal" and others. They received a flattering reception.

Touch of the rural life in New York state is supplied by that love short sketch "The Rural Subject," presented by Joseph Kettler & Co. This interesting story is woven about the love of two old hand-laborers for the widow of the town who has come into a competence and the humorous attempts of the rivals to gain her affection furnish a good vaudeville sketch.

Inside of a large iron cage, Mlle. Beatrice with her performing bears gives a unique exhibition. The Two Polots are big, light-fingers in an oddity humorous juggling exhibition. Another favorite on the bill is Happy Joe Herdman. His happy personality wins the house from the start. The La Salle Trio are superb acrobats who present a most hazardous exhibition.

Atropes of the recent legislation in New York city in which a half-million million picture exhibitions were closed on account of the character of the pictures shown, the management of the Bell have always to make it a point to show nothing on the Bellscop but subjects that are refined and above criticism.

PROMINENT CHARACTER TAKES CARBOLIC ACID

SUPERVISORS DECLINE TO GIVE MORE OUTSIDE LIGHTS

Turn Down Applications Made to Board

The extension of lighting privileges at night to roads in certain sections of the county was denied by the Board of Supervisors this morning, members of the organization declaring that to comply with requests on the subject would exhaust a great part of the revenue of the county.

The declaration on the part of the board was made in the matter of a petition for two electric lights, one light to be placed on the Ewellthill boulevard and the other on the San Leandro road at the intersection of Mountain View avenue.

J. J. O'Toole of Elmhurst appeared as the spokesman for the petitioners. He said that the petitioners were property owners on Mountain View avenue, and that they had raised, by subscription, money enough to provide four lights for that thoroughfare. That number of lights, however, was inadequate, six lamps being required. The petitioners desired the board to supply the two lights in question. One of these lights was to be placed on the boulevard and the other on the San Leandro road. Mr. O'Toole said that the petitioners thought that, as the two lights were intended for main travel roads, the board should pay for the maintenance of the same. In consideration of this, the petitioners were willing to undergo the expense of illuminating the avenue.

Supervisor Bridge also voted the wisest of his constituents and moved that the request be granted.

Difference of Opinion
Supervisor Horner said he would vote for the proposition if the money should be taken out of the road fund of the district.

Bridge objected to paying for the lights out of his road district and because, as he said, if the money of that fund was to be expended in that way it would leave him nothing for the building of roads.

Supervisor Rowe said that there was now pending individual suits against members of the board for the use of money of the general fund for lights and roads.

Supervisor Horner seconded the Bridge motion.

Supervisor Mitchell said that some time ago he had announced that he would vote to supply no more lights for county roads.

The motion was put, Messrs Mitchell, Horner and Rowe voted against the proposition, Mr. Bridge being the only supervisor who voted for it.

Then came another petition of a similar character, signed by W. N. Whitmore and a number of other property owners, asking the board to have the intersection of Kline avenue and East Seventeenth street, the cost for the past year, having been defrayed by the property owners in the vicinity.

Mr. Bridge said that it had been the custom for the board to assume responsibility for lights after those lights had been maintained by the people for a year. In view of this fact, the board had declined to grant the Mountain View avenue petition he did not see why a line should be drawn in favor of the other petitioners.

The request, therefore, of the taxpayers in the vicinity of Kline avenue and East Seventeenth street was also denied.

RECOGNIZED LEADER OF FAMOUS NIGHT RIDERS

Defense Completed Its Case This Morning

UNION CITY, Tenn., Dec. 28.—After a three days' adjournment the trial of the eight alleged night riders indicted for the murder of Captain Beekin, was resumed today. The State completed its evidence in the city and the court room was crowded with men from the late region. The defense asked that witness Thomas Clear, who was on the stand last week, be recalled, as some valuable information had been learned in regard to his testimony.

Walter Holt, a fisherman from Sam Houston, told of the night riders telling him to attend a meeting that night or they would hang him. The night riders paid him a visit on that night and he recognized Garret Johnson as the leader. Will Rogers from Clayton was introduced to corroborate the story told by Holt. Rogers detailing the route taken by him in assembling the band for the Walnut Log road.

After the State had rested the defense asked that the court withdraw all of the evidence from the jury pertaining to other raids than the killing of Captain Beekin.

Justice Jones expressed his doubt on the matter and stated that he would render his decision later.

POSTPONE ACTION ON THE LIQUOR ORDINANCE

At the instance of Supervisor Rowe, the Board of Supervisors this morning continued until Monday, January 11, of next year, consideration of the proposed license ordinance governing the sale of liquors in this county.

Young of Alameda and County Surveyor Hayland were appointed viewers to report upon the cost of building a new road near Alameda to take the place of the road which was abandoned for some time, but the usefulness of which the grade of the Western Pacific railway has interfered. The promoters of the new road say it will afford greater accommodation than the old one did.

A resolution was adopted instructing the district attorney to prepare a contract with the Pacific Construction Co. and the Puget Building Co. for the erection of a new prison at Alameda.

Permits to sell liquor were granted as follows: W. J. Hughes, Samuel E. L. Scott, Niles Canyon.

A communication from the Associated Charities set forth the willingness of that organization to investigate the worthiness for relief of all applicants dependent upon the Board of Supervisors in Brooklyn township for a consideration of $25 per month.

Favored by Bridge
Supervisor Bridge said that he had suggested that the association in question make the proposition which had been read. He said that the officers could read the matter of his district. He did not, however, have time to investigate the applicants as they should be investigated. He would like to have the association investigate, also, applicants in a section of Alameda, which was not now under its charge.

At the suggestion of Supervisor Mitchell, the matter was laid over until it could be acted upon by the new board of supervisors which will be formed Monday next.

A resolution was adopted transferring $17 from the general fund to the Alameda Springs road fund.

Another resolution was adopted transferring $10 from the Piedmont town tax to the salary fund.

The matter of employing men to clean the quarters and book in the recorder's office was referred to the building committee with power to act.

Bids for the construction of a concrete bridge over the Pleasant canal were opened by Public Engineer Bruce Wells, $2790; Walter A. Strong, $2856; Cotton Brothers & Co., $2891; Stephenson & Hood, $2493; Lotus & Layaz, $3447; Hyde & Hargis, $3172.

The contract was awarded to Stephenson & Hood.

The Stomach Does Not Cause Dyspepsia

Neither Will It Cure It Because of Lack of Gastric Juices

Prohibit Relief.

The stomach is a strong, powerful organ, which is composed of muscles of great strength. It is fitted during digestion with gastric juices which, with the stomach, are ending and compressing the food, dissolve it and separate the elements of the food.

If, however, these gastric juices are lacking, the stomach is not capable of digesting the food because it lacks the tools with which to work successfully.

The gastric juices when in a perfect state do away with all foul odors, fermentation and give to the blood, the matter with which to work successfully.

If instead of nourishment the stomach receives a poisonous and imperfect gastric juice, it can be readily seen that they must turn such food into a poison which is thrown from the system.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets corrects the gastric juices and restores the stomach to its normal condition.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are used one or two times a day, after meals, and they are the only remedy for dyspepsia or indigestion.

HUNTED CHILD IN A HOME AT LAST

Marie Judd Had Been Fought for and Kidnapped Many Times.

CLEVELAND, Dec. 26.—Marie Judd, eight years old, has arrived at Newburg and is in the care of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Du Mond of 1908 Harvard street. The child came from San Diego, Cal., under the guardianship of a San Diego detective.

Mrs. Du Mond was waiting at the railroad station, and as Marie alighted from the Pullman and sprang into her arms, both wept tears of joy and the detective blew his nose vigorously and turned his back to them.

It had been a storm-tossed year—a year in which the little girl saw her own home broken, her father and mother estranged; a year in which the child is alleged to have been kidnapped four times and finally taken to the Pacific coast, there to be abandoned and at last found by the Du Mond search made by the Du Mond detective and reclaimed; a year in which the police, the humane societies, the juvenile courts of Cleveland, Lorain, San Diego and Chicago were concerned with the child, all finally baffled by the conflicting love motives in the case; a year the very last moment of which held its anxiety for it was feared there would be another kidnapping at the Newburg station, and the San Diego detective thoughtfully fumbled at his lumpy hip pocket as he pondered on the possibility.

This strange little girl, with the soft, shining hair and her chin-shyness of a child who could easily shake a degree of fierce, protective love that men and women would go to tolling and even desperate lengths for the possession of her is glad. She wanted the story to end just as it did. She loves the Du Mond detective and her mother, and so the problem of the disposition of Marie Judd has settled itself.

A year ago the storms began. Then James and Mattie Judd separated. In the night Mrs. Judd bundled the child up and fled from the home, it is said.

When the father apparently made no attempt either at reconciliation or to fight for the child, the mother sent Marie to Rockwell school. One day, noon it was, the father met Marie tripping down the school path to the sidewalk. Hand in hand they went up the street.

That was how the police came to hear about it. And also how the Du Mond came to be brought into the story. For when the Judds and Marie were threatening out their troubles before Police Prosecutor Cull, they both agreed to let Marie stay with the Du Mond—acquaintances of both husband and wife.

Then came happy weeks for Marie. The Du Mond have a pleasant home. They instantly felt the attractiveness of the child and in a little while were adoring her. But Marie disappeared from the Du Mond's yard one day and the police found her with her mother.

Again, all parties in the police prosecutor's office, Mr. Cull determined to send the child to the home of another mutual friend in Lorain. The Du Mond demurred, but it was done. Father mother and the Du Mond were permitted to visit her.

Three months ago says Prosecutor Cull, Marie Judd, called at the Du Mond house and said she was going to take Marie to Cleveland to buy her some clothes. The Lorain people consented. Marie put on a clean white frock and her mother put her hand on her forehead. That was the last seen of her until now.

The alarm was given at once. The police claim that Mrs. Judd had taken Marie and gone out west. For the Du Mond's storm the police station, demanding that a search be made.

The Du Mond says they are Spanish. And because of the difference in blood, Mrs. Cull, who wish to place Marie in the light of binding Marie irrevocably to the Du Mond's, it told them so, and referred them to the juvenile court. For the Du Mond's were demanding Marie for adoption.

But there was the Lorain family asking for the little girl. And the father declared he had been used with a high hand and with all these claimants, the court could not decide.

"Let the one who finds her have her," was the decision. Marie was found.

Well, the Du Mond found her. They wrote letters to the police all over the West. Finally they located Marie in an institution in San Diego. She had been abandoned by her mother. It was a legend, and the authorities cared for her as an orphan. The Du Mond paid the expenses of the detective who should guard her across the continent. And now, after a storm-tossed year, she is in the haven for which she has longed. The Du Mond are going to adopt her legally and the authorities will raise no objection.

HE, BUT NOT SHE, PLEADS GUILTY

Woman Autoist Who Threatened Flying Squadron With Bullet Fails to Appear.

The woman believed to be Mrs. Merrill of East Oakland who threatened the police flying squadron with a bullet if they interfered with her ride Sunday afternoon, when she and Mr. Merrill were speeding down Twenty-third avenue, failed to put in an appearance in Judge Samuel's court this morning when the case was called for trial and no action was taken in the case.

Her husband appeared alone and, pleading guilty, was fined $10 with the alternative of five days in jail.

"You came mighty near being run over," said Mrs. Merrill, petulantly, when the policeman forced her husband to stop his machine Sunday.

"That's one reason we stopped you," responded one of the policemen.

"I don't know," answered Mrs. Merrill, "if I had my way I'd have put a bullet into you."

In spite of the threat, however, Merrill was compelled to deposit $25 bail for his appearance today before they were allowed to proceed on their way.

The automobile flying squadron, comprised of Policemen Keefe, Flynn and McCarthy, gathered nine others into their drag net when they had their cases dismissed, as they offered the court good excuses.

Anent a Mendacious Faker.

We seldom notice the defamatory statements regarding THE TRIBUNE printed in the Enquirer; they are so obviously untruthful and malicious, and are so evidently inspired by spleen and jealousy that they require no refutation and call for no denial. Moreover, their violation of the canons of veracity and decency are apparent in this community in which THE TRIBUNE has such a large and the Enquirer such a limited circulation. For years our envious neighbor (it would be manifestly ridiculous to speak of the Enquirer as a rival) has labored to make up for its deficiencies as a newspaper by abuse of THE TRIBUNE; it has persistently endeavored to supply its lack of reliable news and enterprise by lying about this paper. The result is that the Enquirer's bona fide circulation is smaller today than it was seven years ago, while the circulation and advertising of THE TRIBUNE have more than quadrupled.

All this is so well known in Alameda county that it is actually a waste of time and space to tell it. However, even the most patient and forbearing of men will sometimes stop to kick a snarling dog, although fully aware that the creature is doing no harm and is unworthy of serious attention. In this spirit we notice the following statement which appeared in last Saturday's Enquirer: "All through the west, corporation-controlled newspapers, like the Oakland Tribune, are printing yards of editorials in which the Oregon legislators are advised to break their solemn pledges to their people and elect a Republican successor to Fulton."

It is to be observed that the writer was careful not to state directly that THE TRIBUNE had printed editorials advising the Oregon Legislature to violate the instruction given by the electorate at the polls to elect Governor Chamberlain—he conveyed the falsehood without specifically stating it. It is a fact well known to the readers of THE TRIBUNE that this paper has on more than one occasion stated editorially that the Oregon Legislature was bound by every consideration of good morals and political honor to obey the popular mandate expressed at the polls. The majority given for Taft has nothing to do with the case, since the Senatorship was not an issue at the Presidential election, having been specifically submitted and decided at the previous State election. We condemned as discreditable and dishonest the attempt to induce the members of the Oregon Legislature to break the pledge given publicly and voluntarily to elect as Senator the candidate designated at the polls as the choice of the people. Nothing ever printed in this paper can possibly be construed as favoring the scheme to defeat the expressed wish of the majority of Oregon voters. Furthermore, THE TRIBUNE stated that it did not believe either President Roosevelt or Judge Taft would countenance, much less aid, a scheme so obviously an affront to political decency.

So much for that. Aside from this, however, there is no reason to think Governor Chamberlain is particularly obnoxious to the railroad interests, as the Enquirer pretends to believe. Chamberlain was favored by the railroads as against his Republican competitor, John C. Cake. Shortly after the election at which he was designated as the popular choice for Senator, Governor Chamberlain was the guest of E. H. Harriman at the latter's Oregon estate, and it was stated at the time by the Oregon papers, and never denied, that the Governor and railway magnate discussed the relations of the railroads with the State of Oregon, and also proposed legislation affecting railroad corporations. There was nothing wrong in this, so far as we know, but it does not indicate that the corporate and railroad interests are trying to defeat Chamberlain, nor do we believe it affects the duty of the Oregon Legislature in the premises. We merely cite it as an evidence that the Enquirer is a humbug as well as a liar.

We have no reason to believe that Governor Chamberlain is other than an upright and conscientious public servant. He has held office in Oregon almost continuously since he took up his residence in the State, and the fact that he has been repeatedly elected to the most important offices in a commonwealth strongly opposed to his political views is high testimony to his worth and integrity. Nevertheless he is a most adroit politician, and has placed personal advancement above party advantage. While retaining the favor of the railroads he has been careful not to offend the President. There was always a warm welcome for him at the White House, and he declined to take the stump for Bryan in the recent campaign. It was stated, but with what truth we cannot say, that he declined requests to speak in Bryan's behalf for fear of injuring his Senatorial prospects. His partisanship has never been robust or obtrusive, and if he is hostile to the railroad interests he has never given any striking evidence of it.

Let us say in conclusion that the only corporation that controls or influences this paper is The Tribune Publishing Company. THE TRIBUNE supported George C. Pardee for Governor when the corporations were for him and when they were against him; it did so without pledge, condition or price, and it has been rewarded by Pardee taking a public platform and denouncing the publisher of this paper as his personal enemy and stating what every reader knows to be false, that THE TRIBUNE had persistently opposed his candidacy for Governor. Dr. Pardee controls the Enquirer, which accounts, perhaps, for its mendacity and malignity, its treachery and faking propensities.

Trials of a Labor Statesman.

The "nephew" of John Burns, England's workingman statesman, who is parading the streets of London with a hand-organ and a placard reproaching Burns for refusing to provide him with a government job, is evidently a worthless fellow. Besides, he is not the nephew of Burns. He is the nephew of Mrs. Burns, which is quite a different proposition. When a man marries he does not marry all his wife's kin nor obligate himself to provide for every member of her family. The complaint made by this London chap, aside from his manner of making it, proves him to be unworthy and wholly without claim on Burns. He is making a public nuisance of himself in the hope that Burns will put him on the government payroll to escape further annoyance. Burns is cabinet minister of Great Britain, but he is miserably poor, and lives the simple life of a laborer in a tiny cottage. He became the spokesman for his class and was repeatedly elected to Parliament while earning a wage of less than two dollars a day. Members of Parliament receive no pay from the government. His fidelity to conviction, his sterling good sense, and his fairness and integrity won for him one of the great offices in the Liberal government. But unfortunately his elevation has brought with it many trials and harassments. He was besought to make the public service a feed trough for the idle and incompetent. His own and his wife's relations clamored for soft jobs. And the poor are always blessed with an opulent relationship. The socialistic element of the working class demanded that he do certain things which he either could not do or regarded as vicious and unwise, and to support certain measures which he regarded as visionary or mischievous; and hence John Burns, the workingman of the British cabinet, is being abused and vilified without stint by the leaders of the so-called labor party. This organization is dominated by Socialists, and has drawn to itself the turbulent and least industrious of the working class. The character of its leadership is illustrated by the fact that the disreputable relative of Mrs. Burns was furnished with his hand-organ by the labor party. A grievance so unworthy and an agent so contemptible testify to the ignoble character and methods of the labor element opposed to John Burns. The refusal of Burns to provide for his wife's tramp nephew at the nation's expense is entirely to his credit.

Johnson of Minnesota.

By the waning shadow of Bryan the figure of John A. Johnson, Minnesota's stalwart Democratic Governor, looms large and imposing. He is evidently a coming man; he has grown on the country since his overwhelming defeat in the Denver convention, and has demonstrated that he is not a political accident, and does not owe his victories in Minnesota mainly to his Scandinavian blood and ancestry. At the last election he was victorious in his third campaign for Governor against a Scandinavian of character and ability. Although some of the radical Bryan following cut him because he dared to offer himself as a Presidential candidate against the Nebraska, he won by a decisive majority in the face of nearly a hundred thousand adverse majority. It can no longer be said that he was elected because he is a Swede. The fact that he is a man of strong and enduring qualities is becoming more generally appreciated, as the following from the Detroit News and Tribune testifies:

"Very early and admittedly first upon the Presidential battlefield of 1912 is Governor John A. Johnson of Minnesota. Back of victor and coat-tails of vanquished have scarcely disappeared over the skyline, to be sure; but Governor Johnson is a far-sighted and fore-armed statesman. Moreover, he is armed this time very formidably.

"The chain-mail, the mace and the archaic battleaxe of Bryan and Bryanism he has wisely and completely discarded. He has a new standard and a new weapon. His platform for 1912 is to be 'free trade and immediately free trade with Canada.' Of government ownership of railroads and guaranty of bank deposits and appeals to class prejudice and assaults upon the judiciary there is left nothing."

While Johnson is not in sympathy with fads and radical expedients he has curbed the corporations with a strong hand, has checked the rapacity of organized wealth with firmness and success, and he has, moreover, proved himself to be an administrator of a high order of talent. But he has not caused apprehension to property and business interests, only arrayed himself against the lawless and predatory. He is in accord with the traditional policy of his party, and if this country can tolerate another President inoculated with Cobdenism Johnson is not only the most available man in sight, but seems to possess more of the qualities of safe leadership than any other man the Democrats have. He has the respect of the leaders and press of the Republican party, and is not regarded as inherently unsafe nor infected with a temperamental idealism which makes policies the sport of mood and whim. There is nothing fantastic about him; he embodies no strange conceits, and his mental make-up is not dominated by an imagination so ardent that it loses sight of the practical and ignores the stern logic of circumstance and condition. In short, Johnson is strong where Bryan is notably weak, possessing in large degree the stable qualities so conspicuously lacking in the Nebraska orator. And he has the prestige of repeated success in a Republican State.

But the fatal drawback to Johnson is the distrust his party has inspired, and the conviction, strengthened by experience, that free trade or anything approaching it would be disastrous to American industry and prosperity. There is also the handicap of belonging to a minority party that has become sectionalized. The difficulties which beset Cleveland, and made him a buffer between opposing beliefs and aspirations, will be encountered by Johnson with still greater force and still more radical divergence. Unless he can reconcile the conflicting elements within his own party his election to the Presidency is a remote possibility, and a successful administration in the improbable event of his election utterly impossible. He is in the right church but in the wrong pew.

At any rate the cold weather will prevent the fruit trees from budding and blooming too early. Warm weather during the holidays has often been followed by early fruit being nipped by frost. A fine fruit crop usually follows a cold winter.

Why not celebrate the New Year by inaugurating a general clean-up of the city? It would be a good idea for citizens to do a little cleaning up on their own hook, and co-operate with the city officials in collecting rubbish and making the whole town tidy and presentable.

RECTOR OF CATHOLIC UNIVERSITY NAMED AUXILIARY BISHOP OF S. F.

BISHOP D. J. O'CONNELL, Appointed Coadjutor Bishop of San Francisco.

Expected to Arrive in the West Some Time in January.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Bishop Dennis J. O'Connell, rector of the Catholic University, has been appointed auxiliary bishop of San Francisco. A cablegram was received yesterday from Pius Secretary of State Cardinal Merry del Val announcing that the pope had made the appointment, and the apostolic briefs will be received within the next fortnight.

Bishop O'Connell's term as rector of the university will expire on January 11, but as there seems no hope of the appointment of his successor before that date he will receive a commission from Cardinal Gibbons, chancellor of the university, naming him as acting rector, so that there will be no interregnum.

Business to Finish
That the bishop will not enter at once upon his new duties in San Francisco is the opinion of the best advised prelates, as he has bound himself to finish certain portions of the financial management at the university before handing over these things to his successor. At the same time it is pointed out that affairs in San Francisco are pressing, and the present metropolitan, Archbishop Riordan, has been without an assistant for over two years.

Riordan requested the appointment of Bishop O'Connell, and it is believed that he will be adverse to his remaining in Washington later than the Easter season.

Dr. Hanna a Candidate
The appointment of Bishop O'Connell to San Francisco terminates a perplexing condition of affairs at the Catholic University. Hanna, the number of the next election, has not yet been forwarded to Rome, and his choice was Rev. Edward Hanna. But numerous objections were lodged against Dr. Hanna, mainly because his views appeared to the Vatican authorities to border on modernism, and though a brief naming him as coadjutor had actually been made out, it was withdrawn and Archbishop Riordan was asked for a new list of candidates.

With the future of the present rector determined the Roman authorities will attend to the selection of the next rector. It appears that a list of candidates has not yet been forwarded to Rome, and will leave today. The delay has been caused by the number of letters from trustees' meetings and the desire of Bishop O'Connell's colleagues not to take any action until he had been prepared to an active role. The consensus of opinion still points to Bishop Carroll of Montana as the next head of the Pupal Institution.

Beautiful 'Thatcher Twin' Has Honeymoon in Quarantine

Nurses Husband Who Has Scarlet Fever

CHICAGO, Dec. 26.—A remarkable case of wife devotion has come early for the bride of Robert Campbell Wheeler, who was Lydia Genevieve Thatcher, one of the famous "Thatcher twins" of Pueblo, Colorado.

Though married less than two months this young woman has been in close quarantine for nearly three weeks, in her home in St. James place, nursing her husband, who is ill of scarlet fever. Though in grave danger of contracting the dread disease, she has insisted on remaining at all sides.

Mrs. Wheeler's own story of how she spent her honeymoon in quarantine may soon be given to the world as Mrs. Wheeler is said to be conversing and the quarantine embargo may be raised within the next few days.

The romance that resulted in the marriage of Lydia Thatcher and Robert Campbell began at Harbor Point, Mich., two seasons ago. Mrs. Thatcher was passing the summer there at the home of her father, Mahlon D. Thatcher, who is a millionaire banker of Pueblo, Mr. Wheeler, the son of Eugene Wheeler, a retired grain merchant of 2202 Michigan avenue had just finished his course at Yale, and was at Harbor Point resting up for the work of a post graduate course in law at the University of Chicago.

At the end of the season the engagement of the young people was announced and the marriage was solemnized October 27 last at the home of the bride's parents in Pueblo. Two of the eight bridesmaids were Miss Katherine Luce, daughter of E. L. Luce, and Miss Marion Forgan, daughter of D. L. Forgan, both of

Beauty as Duty Given a Slap

CHICAGO, Dec. 25.—It is the duty of all girls to be beautiful, even if they have to resort to the eye pencil, the powder puff and the rouge paste. Mothers allow their daughters too much freedom in arranging their coiffures for school attendance.

This bouquet of advice, direct and implied, to young girls, which has emanated from various sources during the last twenty-four hours, is not all given the O. K. label by M. P. J. O'Keefe, member of the Chicago board of education.

Philip C. Fletcher, pastor of the First Methodist church of St. Louis, yesterday gave the young women of his congregation permission to resort to artificial beautifiers.

"If I were a young woman I would try to be winsome," he said. "Beauty is a duty. Young women ought to strive to appear to the very best advantage, mentally, physically and morally. If by the use of the powder puff, the paint brush and the brow pencil you can make yourself more attractive, you have my consent to use them freely. It is all right to supplement the works of God. To be ugly in an age like this is little short of a sin against God and self."

Sayings of Mrs. Solomon (Being the Confessions of the Seven Hundred th Wife.) Translated by HELEN ROWLAND

Verily, my daughter, there is but one way to get any man into matrimony—even to SURPRISE him into it. For a man weddeth, not when he loatheth his bride, but when he loveth his bride.

Yea, marriage is a thing which a woman contemplateth with nurture aforethought, but it is a thing which just "happeneth" to a man when he least expecteth it.

It is not the woman whom he loveth that he weddeth, but the woman who changeth to be near him, and it is not the woman who giveth him an opiate; it is not she who taketh him as a serious thing, but she who taketh him off his guard. Yea, it is not the right woman, but the convenient woman who getteth him, every time.

For a man's love to a wife as he doth to a buttonhole boutonniere because she smelt sweet and looketh pretty and needeth care fully upon his coat lapel, and he marryeth not when he loveth in love, but when he loveth into a trap. But a woman marryeth when she CAN.

Verily, no bachelor liveth who thinketh himself not immune. Yet there cometh a day when he getteth a jar. A wheel whirleth inside his head and he catcheth himself caught into a snare in the park and dreaming of daisy socks and home-made biscuits. He groweth restless, and the joys of a boarding-house existence turn to gall in his mouth. His little girl burneth his pockets and he yearneth for shills with buttons thereon.

And the hurt little thing which shall appear at this moment shall reap the reward of great luck. She shall seem unto him "just about right." For he hath the "merry mood," and he marryeth the first girl that cometh his way.

Verily, verily, matrimony cometh unto a woman as a joy, but it cometh unto a man as a jilt! Selah!

COST $12 TO KISS HIS WIFE IN PUBLIC STREET OF MEXICO

EL PASO, Tex., Dec. 26.—Louis Fierro is in jail in Juarez, Mexico, across the Rio Grande from here, because he kissed his wife. International complications are feared, as Fierro is a citizen of the United States. He has lived in El Paso several years, and this is the first time he has ever been accused of committing a crime.

It would have been just as bad if he had kissed some one else's wife, the Mexican law being extremely severe with persons who make public demonstrations of their affection.

Fierro had a good excuse for kissing his wife, too, but even that didn't save him. He wouldn't have done it if it hadn't

WOMEN'S CLUB 'HET UP' OVER GIVING BRIDGE PRIZES

Refuses to Accept Substitute of Tea and Pastry as Incentives to Play

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—A small but furious tempest is raging in the Women's West End Republican Club. The members, following the lead of their great standard-bearer, Theodore Roosevelt, are all "het up" these days. Not, however, over the Panama Canal scandals, but over prizes for bridge parties.

The trouble started at the last meeting of the club. The executive committee of the club had voted to give a series of bridge parties to which outsiders should be admitted. Mrs. Clara Hill had been appointed chairman of a committee to arrange details. The club had voted to contribute the prizes. Several ladies of prominence had pledged themselves to give valuable prizes for this competition. Everything was going on as smoothly as a country towing bee, when up rose Mrs. Clara Hill, a Christian Scientist, and proceeded to upset the whole apple cart.

Mrs. Church declared that card playing for prizes is all wrong. It is next door to gambling and riches, the cynic of this State is opposed to it. So is Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy. Although Mrs. Church was diplomatic enough not to bring in the name of her "beloved leader."

Miss Helen Varick Howell, the famous campaign speaker, said that in her opinion, the Women's West End Republican Club should set an example to other women's clubs and have their bridge parties without prizes, that it is clearly the duty of so prominent a Republican organization to stand by and uphold the hands of the chief executive officer of the State.

Miss Frank Stewart Osborne, seeing a storm coming, suggested that they should have a cup of tea and some delicious French cakes, instead of bridge, at their card function. It was an ominous murmur, but it was not the amount of Oolong and pastry could take the place of the insoluble game.

Then Mrs. William Grant Brown, an executive and over to the enemy. She said that she, too, was in favor of reforming club diversions.

That settled it. Although the minority was bitterly opposed, the club voted down prizes for bridge and placed itself on record as standing by Governor Hughes.

Mrs. J. Ellen Foster, who was a spectator, with words of joy in her heart, said she had fired a shot that will be heard round the world. "I shall go to Washington," she exclaimed. "I shall tell every one there what a glorious thing has been done in the Women's West End Republican Club. The new world will see that one woman's organization does so from upon a pedestal. Mrs. Church Hill and her committee bowed their heads to the decision of the majority, but when members approached the chairman of the bridge which paid the committee to have tickets she in found them that she did not know of any bridge which parties to be given this winter by the Women's West End Republican Club.

Unbelievable madness at this with Mrs. Church and her committee, that it is just too ridiculous to anything to think of having bridge without prizes. They are asking with bitterness, if Christian Science is to run the West End as well

Blind Man Sues Boss for Making Love to His Wife

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—Barney Feinstein, of 231 East Seventy-third street, blind more than thirty years and earning a meagre living by cleaning chairs, alleges in an affidavit that Simon Schulz, his employer, told him he had accumulated a fortune in his little business establishment at 1128 Second avenue. But when Feinstein asked the thirty Simon to invest his money in real estate Simon always replied that he was afraid he'd lose it.

Now Feinstein has discovered another investment in which he is seeking to compel Simon to put his fortune.

Feinstein's wife is not blind, and, after she had been Mrs. Bernstein nine years, she became the mother of a boy baby, now four years old and in a suit for $100,000 damages, the blind husband alleges that Simon Schulz the opulent upholder, is the father of the boy.

He charges Schulz with having alienated the affections of Sarah G. Feinstein, his wife, ten years ago, and that from that time down to 1908 Sarah had regular visits to the basement, where she lived in a most unwelcome way with his boss.

The case is on trial before Justice Hendrick and a jury in the Supreme Court, and that G. Feinstein, the alleged recent wife, is called upon by Myer Sulzberger as an important witness in the proof of her blind husband's charges.

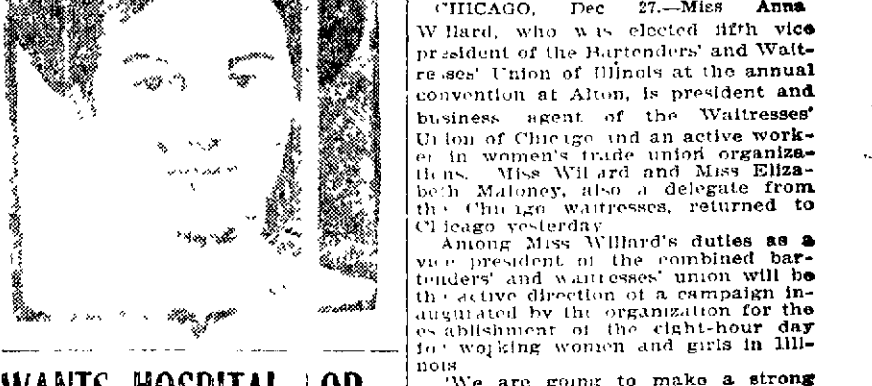

She is important, it is said, and there has been a reconciliation between her and Bernstein. She looks him to over, accompanied by the little boy, but K. Henry Rosenberg, counsel for Schulz, declares the suit is a "strike" and that there is not a word of truth in the charges.

Morris Radin, of 228 East Seventy-third street, an employee of Schulz, swears that the charges are true, and that he was threatened with discharge when he discovered the boss making love to Sarah. It was he who told her blind husband what he could not see for himself.

GIRL TO HELP RUN BARTENDERS' UNION

MISS ANNA WILLARD.

Young Woman Is the Vice-President of the Chicago Society

CHICAGO, Dec. 27.—Miss Anna Willard, who was elected fifth vice president of the Bartenders' and Waitresses' Union of Illinois at the annual convention at Alton, is president and business agent of the Waitresses' Union of Chicago and an active worker in women's trade union organizations. Miss Willard and Miss Elizabeth Maloney, also a delegate from the Chicago waitresses, returned to Chicago yesterday.

Among Miss Willard's duties as a vice president of the combined bartenders' and waitresses' union will be the active direction of a campaign inaugurated by the organization for the establishment of the eight-hour day for working women and girls in Illinois.

"We are going to make a strong campaign for the eight-hour day for working women in Illinois," said Miss Willard.

Both Miss Willard and Miss Maloney are members of the Women's Trade Union League of Chicago, and have been for years identified with women's unions. Miss Willard lives at 248 E. 12th street and Miss Maloney, lives at 637 West Ohio street.

WANTS HOSPITAL FOR SICK DOGS AND CATS

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 26.—Miss Elizabeth J. Baker, secretary of the Humane Society, has been appointed to establish in Los Angeles a hospital for sick and homeless dogs and cats. Not a hospital where the pet animal is confined in a cage, but a place where a pet animal can be cured for free of charge. Miss Baker does not want to establish a dog hospital, as dogs are usually cured by a veterinarian, but a place where a pet animal can be cured for free of charge. A few days ago Mrs. Baker promulgated by starting a movement for the purpose of $50,000 was being raised in Los Angeles. The establishment has never been settled, but the cause is awaiting the payment.

"I have long wanted to establish a hospital," Mrs. Baker said, "for these poor starved little fellows who are running the streets getting here, a cure there."

Are Women the Chief Buyers of Racy Novels?

The American husband is a model of the other nations, they pay sometimes they indulge him—indulgence of his beautiful and good. As a rule he gives her all the can, he loves to see her lavish, he lets her "eat" her own heart, and makes almost no demands in his own home, says a wife in proportion to his income does he let her be free from the work to see may have more to amuse herself or instruct her children. His daughter is treated with even more indulgence than his wife.

It was this indulgent attitude of American men that made women possible in this country. Our men realized that women had minds and souls and that they were the education, so they hastened to aid women in supplying this want. They supplied it so well that there are many who go so far as to assert that the American woman has a corner on American culture. Her husband from his early manhood is so busy in providing her with every means to acquire this culture that he has no time to spend on himself. For this reason many claim that the American woman in general intelligence outstrips her husband, who knows little of his own business. Any publisher will tell you in proof of this that it is the approval of the women of the country which makes the "big sellers," that to be a paying business investment the magazine must cater to the women. It is the women of the country who read. They read the newspapers and the articles in the magazines which their wives recommended to them.

Does Housework At the Age of 109

"I am just that old," said "Grandma" Sarah Malinda, who lives in an old frame residence and Pooker streets with a daughter, recently took in a third husband, that she is 109 years old, and that her back her mother up in a state of

"I surely am just that old," said "Grandma" Sarah, "and I was born in what is Pulaski county, Virginia."

The centenarian with skin like parchment and without a tooth in her gums, appears in the serene and yellow hair, but despite her hundred years and more she is in possession of her faculties, with hearing unimpaired and eyesight little affected. She is engaged daily in tasks of housework, and frequently spends hours in "stringing" water at the lumber yard. She is a confirmed "snuff dipper."

"My father believed in teaching girls to work early," she continued, "and when I was six years old I ploughed many a field of corn. Let me tell you an awful thing that happened to me when I was eight years old. I was with some other children out in the woods gathering ginseng when I wandered away from the party and was lost. I stayed, for six months, yes, six months, I was alone in the wild woods of Virginia wandering about, hearing many times and seeing sometimes the heads of the forest. I didn't have nothing to eat all that time but berries, roots and herbs and what live things I could catch."

"After six whole months I was found by some settlers who were searching the woods for a band of Cherokee Indians who had ravaged the village. I was wild as a buck, scared of my own folks. They locked me in a cage like a bear until I was used to seeing people again, then let me out."

The old lady's several references to "the war at Maryville" was mystifying until the daughter explained that the Civil War was meant. Grandma was then living at Maryville, in this state, and in referring to sights she had witnessed at that period she said:

"I once, I've walked over stacks and stacks of dead men, and waded through pools of blood in that war till I can't stand to think of it. I had a brother who was living in Indiana when Abe Lincoln sent word for all the men to join the army. Brother Jim was newly married, with a little boy two weeks old, when they came to make him join. He told them he wouldn't leave his wife and baby for nobody no nobody's country."

Schoolgirl Hats Too Big for Lockers

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 28.—Usually a patient man and noted for his placidity, Prof. E. D. Phillips, principal of the High School, surprised a group of teachers this week by bursting forth with:

"I wish some one would start a style for small hats for High School girls. These big hats are ridiculous. The girls can't get them in their lockers and there they are in the dust. They cannot reach the top of the lockers without stools, and some one is always disturbing the drawing or bookkeeping rooms borrowing stools."

A big hat is a most selfish thing, anyway. It obscures the view at the theater and at the places of amusement and it takes up more than its share of room in the street cars. I don't see why our girls cannot wear sensible hats."

The girls at the Manual Training High School, and the other high schools, too, for that matter, have long bemoaned the fact that the Board of Education provided them with little 12x12-inch boxes in which to keep their hats.

"When the Merry Widows came out last spring it made a distinct impression upon the high school girls. It was 'just too cute for words,' and she immediately adopted it as particularly becoming to her style of beauty."

The big hats this year have again caught her fancy, and the top of the lockers surpass any millinery display in the city. As the size of the hats has grown, so has grown the indignation of the school girls.

Wife Stands by Accused Pastor

LEXINGTON, Ky., Dec. 28.—Calvary Baptist Church, one of the most imposing edifices in the South, built at a cost of $50,000 a year ago, burned shortly after its dedication and immediately rebuilt. It is without a pastor, back of which fact is a remarkable episode.

For the past four years the Rev. Dr. Walter P. Hines has been the pastor of the church which at the time he took charge occupied an insignificant building in a downtown section of the city. Dr. Hines soon saw the need of a more pretentious structure, and accordingly set about to erect a modern edifice, which he accomplished after much time and trouble. When it was burned he set about to erect another.

Shortly after his dedication the name of the pastor was linked with a woman member of the church and other women. Dr. Hines demanded an investigation, pending which he resigned.

An investigating committee, composed of seven men affiliated with other churches of the city, of which Dr. J. W. Foster, pastor of the First Baptist Church, was chairman, was appointed. It worked for three months and secured the testimony of almost a hundred people, and brought in a verdict in which the pastor was found guilty of "indelicacy" unbecoming a Christian minister.

Shortly after his resignation and before the charges had become public, Dr. Hines received a call to a southern city, but his wife refused to allow him to leave Lexington under a cloud and insisted that he remain and fight it out.

After the report of the committee the wife announced that she had engaged attorneys and that the defamers of her husband would pay dear. Mrs. Hines is wealthy and says she will spend her entire fortune in an effort to show his innocence to the world. Because of the attitude of the wife the real sensation of the matter is expected in the future.

BULLDOG IS ACCEPTED IN ALIMONY PAYMENT

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 27.—In granting a divorce some months ago to Mrs. Della Kling the court directed alimony to be paid in installments.

Kling told behind in his payments and was brought into court by his former wife. He said he had no property but a bulldog. The wife promptly said she would take the dog in payment of $25 due on the last installment and Kling agreed to turn over the animal to her.

"Let's stay here and hear the music," said Mrs. Fierro.

"Si senora mia," said Fierro, unconsciously dropping into the language of his native land. All went well until the leader with a great flourish of his baton set his men to playing that wonderful seductive air, "La Paloma."

The strains of the piece brought back to Fierro the memory of his courtship days. It sent the blood coursing through his veins and made his heart beat fast. As the climax was reached in a great burst of harmony, he threw discretion to the winds. Grasping his wife about the waist he drew her to him and planted six kisses on her lips in time with the

GIRL TO BE BRIDE OF JAPANESE

MISS L. GOODENOW.

CHICAGO, Dec. 26.—A romance which began in the Art Institute two years ago when two young students soon will terminate in the marriage of Miss Lucene L. Goodenow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Goodenow, 6043 Woodlawn avenue, and Kiohei Inukai, a young Japanese artist, said to be heir to one of the oldest titles in Japan.

Inukai, who is now head of the art department of a Chicago engraving house, formerly resided at San Francisco. He came to Chicago after the earthquake and at once entered the Art Institute as a student. Miss Goodenow also was a student at the same time, and the young people often worked side by side, and criticized one another's work. The report of the announcement therefore was no surprise to the friends of the couple.

"I cannot discuss our reported engagement," said Inukai. "Anything regarding the engagement will have to come from either Mr. or Mrs. Goodenow, or Miss Goodenow herself."

Miss Goodenow said the formal announcement would be made soon.

In an instant the hands of policemen were on his shoulders. He and his wife were arrested and taken at once to the Mayor's court.

"Why did you do it?" Why did you commit this crime?" asked the Mayor.

"Because—because—well, Senator, the band was playing 'La Paloma'."

This was not accepted as a valid excuse. After much pleading Mrs. Fierro was released, but her husband was fined $12 and sent to jail.

The arrest and imprisonment has caused great indignation here. Friends of Fierro said that his arrest for succumbing to the blandishments of the favorite of Mr. Bryan will make him the logical candidate for Vice-President.

Opera Singer a Mountain Climber

PARIS, Dec. 28.—Miss Edith Lee Baker, of Chicago, will make her debut in opera in Milan at the beginning of next year. Miss Baker is at present a pupil of Mme. Marchesi. She possesses a fine soprano voice, of Irish quality, and in addition has style, dramatic power and energy. Miss Baker also has celebrity as one of the most intrepid and tireless mountain climbers even seen in Switzerland.

She made a record for "doubling" the Matterhorn from Zermatt, which means ascending and returning in the shortest time. The Matterhorn, as is well known, affords more danger than any other mountain in Switzerland, but Miss Baker makes light of the dangers and says that the fatigue and privations have ample compensation in the magnificent view which is obtained from the top, and by the wonderful exhilaration produced by the mountain air.

Miss Baker, who is also a long distance swimmer, does not at first present the appearance of an athlete, as she is below middle height and her glistly appearance does not seem associated with daring feats. But her muscles have evidently reached a fine degree of development in a slender form.

The latter was formerly president of the Cold Storage Company, in Chicago.

Facts Quoted by California's Senior Senator Show His Position to Be Exactly Opposite to That Claimed by His Critic.

"It is not the Senator of the opinion that there lies confronting us a solution of this proposition which will be quite incapable of evasion, and the only one which can be devised which will not be susceptible of evasion; and that is, that the United States shall hold these lands in trust and shall not sell them at all but shall hold them and lease them, retaining such control over the lease as the lessor may lawfully retain, and thus in this way pay money over to the Indians, the annual securing royalty and preventing any possibility of the concentration of

West Oakland Club Will Show

TOBY IRWIN AND BOB LUNDIE TO SETTLE OLD TIME GRUDGE

List of Contests to Be Offered Have Every Appearance of Being Productive of Some Good Milling.

By EDDIE SMITH.

TOMORROW night the West Oakland Athletic Club will throw open their doors to the public, and as an attraction they will stage six contests, all of which are of considerable importance.

"I have not made any efforts to match a star fighter on this card, for I believe that even matches of the kind are not profitable, and that they will stand of the men, if the people think the matches are worth the money they will patronize and enjoy the show. After looking over the card I believe that you will agree with me when I say that the matches have an even appearance and that the show should be a good one."

In the main event, Toby Irwin will come into the ring with his regular backing from North Beach to give battle to Bob Lundie, one of the most promising boys that San Francisco turned out a year ago in quest of matches, however.

Bob Lundie, who has been in the ring for the past year, has been fighting in the mountains, and although he did not come home with much of the wealth of gold that he intended, he at least comes back with a good deal of experience.

Long Standing Feud

The contest will not be one of the love affairs that we are sometimes treated to, either, for in the days when Lundie was acting as sparring partner to Battling Nelson and beating him for a good one, it was the feeling between the two dates back to that time.

In the special event, Eddie Menny and Willie Ritchie will take a fling at one another. Menny is the lighter by a few pounds and much the shorter, but he has had considerably more experience than the clever Ritchie, and it is expected that he will be able to outpoint him.

Menny was beaten by Jimmy Reagan the last time out, but has since then taken back his reputation, and he did not properly train for the contest.

Johnny Roche and Harry Dell will meet in the next bout of importance, and as both men are anxious with Jimmy Reagan the contest can be expected to be lively. Roche claims a win over Jimmy Carroll in a four-round bout and the fans who have seen him at work of late claim that he will surprise the natives when he starts at the Pacific-street Italian.

Dell has shown here often and the fans are well acquainted with his method of doing with the gloves.

Ellis a Cyclone

Paddy Ellis, the Alameda, Fitzsimmons, will try to walk over Jeff Perry, just as he has with all of his opponents since entering the ring. Paddy will not have the snap with Perry that he has had with the others, however, but he is a fighter and he will find a fighter who is shifty and clever and who is able to deliver a fairly good punch with either hand.

Ellis may show us what we want to know about Jeff Perry, however, for it has been hinted that Jeff is not the greatest fighter in the world, and some few have been cruel enough to say that he is a delirious and a delirious at Los Angeles or one of its suburbs.

If Perry holds the fort and fights back at Ellis the way he did with Lassard at the Bellanca Club, the contest will be a draw, and if he does not, he will show the least fear and backs up just the least bit, then that red-headed terror from Alameda will slam him about the ring in grand style.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

FIVE SACKS OF PINE BLOCKS TO BE SOLD, THIS WEEK FOR A DOLLAR

GREATEST VALUE IN WOOD EVER OFFERED IN THIS CITY--AMERICAN FUEL COMPANY ADOPTING AGGRESSIVE METHODS TO GET PEOPLE TO TRY THEIR COAL -- UNQUESTIONABLY THE FINEST FUEL FOR COOKING AND GRATES EVER MINED--WILL ONLY SELL THE WOOD TO THOSE WHO BUY THE COAL.

The American Fuel Company announces a sale of straight-grained dry pine blocks, for kindling or grates, that will unquestionably create an immense amount of interest when the public read of it in their advertisement upon another page of tonight's paper.

"Some of our friends are wondering how it is we can afford to sell good wood at such prices," said Manager Copeland this morning, "and, as far as the profit on the wood is concerned, we can't afford it, but if you'll notice our advertisement you'll see that we require everyone who buys the wood to also order at least half a ton of American Block Coal. The result is that every time we have a wood sale we get from 50 to 100 new users of American Block Coal. Of course many of our old customers take advantage of the sale, which we cannot avoid, but the new users make up for everything, because once a woman gets a half ton of genuine American Block she will never use anything else. We have no trouble after getting in the first load, because the remarkable efficiency of American Block is immediately recognized by the user, and nothing else will ever do in the future."

"Our greatest difficulty," continued Mr. Copeland, "is in getting people to try it and in keeping dealers from substituting other coal, calling it American Block. These substitutes leave kindlers, make soot or are unsatisfactory in some manner, and the housekeeper, thinking she is getting the genuine, concludes it is no good, and goes back to her old coal. The best way is to get it direct from our office at first; then, after you know it when you see it, order it of your regular dealer if preferred. We have no desire to take business away from other dealers, but do advise everyone to get their first order here to be safe."

There is no question but that American Block is a wonderfully satisfactory coal, principally because it gives out such a splendid long blaze (which heats the oven) and because it makes no soot. It burns best without any draft and makes an exceedingly cheerful grate fire with little or no smoke. It is easy to light, gets hot at once and burns up clean as a whistle. It comes in large lumps, which sell at $12.00 a ton, $6.00 a half ton, or $3.00 a quarter ton, and in small lumps (for kitchen use), which sell at $11.00 a ton, $5.50 a half ton, or $2.75 a quarter ton. The best way to order a half ton is to get a quarter of a ton of each size, which together, including the five sacks of kindling wood, will only cost $8.75.

"We advise our friends to order these $6.75 outfits," said one of the yard managers today, "because they get ten sacks of coal and five sacks of pine blocks for this price, which is the biggest lot of good fuel I ever saw sold for the money. It's a bargain all right, and the sacks are big, full, fat ones, too, which will be a surprise to some people who have been used to getting small sacks from other dealers."

The American Fuel Co. has three offices: one at 1217 Broadway, opposite Ye Liberty Theater, Oakland, phone Oakland 770 or Home phone A 1670, which can be told by the big brass head out in front; another in Berkeley, phone Berkeley 1729; another in charge of Mr. Charles Seal in Alameda, phone Alameda 2892. The best way to place orders is by telephone.

PRIEST HONORED FOR HIS SERVICES

FATHER McNALLY.

Council of Archdiocese by Special Decree Makes Father McNally Rector for Life.

In appreciation of thirty-one years of untiring and well-directed effort, the irremovable rectorship of St. Patrick's Catholic Church of this city has been conferred upon the Rev. F. R. McNally by a special decree of the council of the archdiocese instituted by Archbishop Riordan.

St. Patrick's Church was founded by Father McNally in 1877, and he has been its only pastor. The act of the council raises the parish to the same rank as that of St. Mary's, St. Francis de Sales and St. Anthony's parishes, which for several years have had irremovable rectors.

Priest Much Beloved

Father McNally is one of the most widely beloved priests in Alameda county. During the forty years of his service to the church in this State his kindly, genial personality and widespread benevolence have gained for him an enviable number of staunch friends among both the Catholics and Protestants on this coast.

"My whole soul is in the welfare of my parish," said Father McNally when discussing the new honor conferred upon him today, "and the knowledge that I am to be allowed to remain among my people for the rest of my life is very dear to me. There is a great work to be done in Oakland and in the four parishes of those who are working for a greater and better city are the earnest members of St. Patrick's Church."

Long in Service

Father McNally is the oldest priest in point of time of service in Alameda county. For twenty-five years he has been president of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of California. One of the most noteworthy charities in which he was a prime mover was the Mutual Benefit Association, which upon its disbandment recently, gave $250,000 to the needy poor of this State.

The veteran priest will celebrate his sixty-fourth birthday anniversary on January 12, 1909. Already congratulations and kindly wishes of continued health and prosperity are pouring in upon him from the seven parishes of this State of which he was the founder, and from as far away as Ireland, which he visited during the past year.

'STOP ROWDYISM,' IS CHIEF'S ORDER

Have Lots of Fun at San Francisco's New Year's Celebration Says Cook.

(Special to THE TRIBUNE)

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—Chief of Police Cook this morning issued his order to the various precinct captains for the distribution of their forces on New Year's eve, when three celebrations are scheduled to take place in different parts of the city.

Approximately 675 of the 789 men at present in the department will be on duty during the evening and some will remain at the scene of the festivities until 3 o'clock on the morning of January 1. The arrangements for handling the enormous crowds have been left entirely to the captains in the several districts, and policemen have been sent from outlying sections to reinforce the main force. The chief has stated that he will require all officers to see that the place is kept clean and the public is kept themselves decent, but forbidding them to use branches of trees, print or anything else that would tend to injure either the elegance or their clothes. When asked this morning whether he contemplated any changes among the detective sergeants, or whether he proposed transferring any of the 14,000 officers, the chief asserted that he intended to wait for some time and carefully look into the situation. Twenty new policemen will be added to the force on January 1, raising the total number of officers and men to 817.

LOCAL SOCIETIES ADOPT PLANS OF NEW BUILDING

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—At the annual meeting of the Eureka Benevolent Society yesterday, the plan and plan for the construction of a new building for the society was adopted. The plan was adopted by a vote of 10 to 2.

Interesting reports of the president and secretary were read. They showed that the society had been very successful in the last year for charitable purposes. The organization has 804 members, including 181 life members and 623 honorary members.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Henry Stenhouse; vice president, S. M. Heller; treasurer, Albert S. Heller; secretary, George J. Heller; directors, Simon Newman, Herman Levy, Simon Anspacher, Isaac S. Rosenberg, Sig Schwabacher, Leopold Minkels, Otto Irving Wise and Abraham Haas.

NO BENEFITS TO HEIR OF FATHER WHO ENDED LIFE

(Special to THE TRIBUNE)

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—The District Court of Appeal this morning affirmed the judgment of the Superior Court in connection with a suit brought against the Order of the Praterian Brotherhood by Harry M. Schack for an insurance benefit which he failed to receive.

John Schack, the father of the plaintiff, and a member of the organization, committed suicide in the early part of this year, and the brotherhood refused to pay the usual benefit to his son, Harry, on the ground that there was a suicide clause in their by-laws. This regulation provided that a member of the order who had joined within a period of five years and ended his own life was not entitled to leave a benefit to his heirs.

After Schack's death a suit was brought by his son, but the Superior Court denied relief, and today's decision of the higher tribunal will finally set the matter permanently at rest.

PREPARING FOR CITY'S GREATEST NEW YEAR'S EVE CELEBRATION

Enthusiasm over Oakland's New Year's eve celebration grows as the time for that event approaches. The affair, according to those in charge, will be superior to anything of the same nature ever attempted here. Merchants and others have donated freely for the night's fun.

TUNEFUL OPERA AGAIN WELCOMED

EDNA ARCHER CRAWFORD,
Who Appears at the Macdonough in "The Lion and the Mouse."

The "Alaskan" at the Macdonough Theater Well Received on Its Second Visit.

Fresh invigorating and novel in its conception, "The Alaskan," which John Cook, the well-known theatrical manager, carried through to a tremendous success, was the attraction at the Macdonough Theater yesterday.

This is the second year of the tuneful opera with everything tending toward greater popularity than before. There have been many changes made in cast and chorus, and in its new edition, while retaining much that was so favorably received last season, is more inviting than ever. All the real song hits of last year have been retained.

The present cast includes Edward Marshall, in the role of Totem Pole Pete, William Fables, the animal impersonator, who again makes the part of the official bear; Forrest Huff, who sings the part of Richard Attaway; Lena Leih, who is the Arise; Fritzle von Busing as the Chaperon; Dick Fitzgerald, the Smiley Strander; Edna Fitzgerald, in the part of the Wardrobe Woman; and Hunter Wilson as Meadowbrook Blazes.

Tonight the last performance will be given.

The Lion and the Mouse

Charles Klein's great work, "The Lion and the Mouse," is scheduled for a welcome visit to the Macdonough Theater commencing tomorrow, Tuesday, December 29.

It has been a long time since a play has been produced that has won the universal praise shown this drama, and the fact that it is based on existing conditions in the lives of some of the American money kings of today makes it altogether in commanding the attention of those in all walks of life. Henry E. Harris has done much good in holding "The Lion and the Mouse" at the high plane established at the very outset, as he has given his whole attention to the cast of players and scenic environments.
